U.S. ends alert; foes arguing in Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP(— The United States has ended the worldwide military alert called last week, the Pentagon said today.

Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said about 350,000 soldiers and sailors in Europe and within the Atlantic fleet returned to normal military duties at midnight Tuesday. They were the last of the U.S. military force remaining on alert status after President Nixon's order six days ago following Middle East tensions.

At the same time Friedheim said it appears that an alert of about 50,000 Soviet paratroopers in Russia and eastern Europe has ended also.

Over the weekend, all U.S.based units, including the elite 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., returned to their normal routines.

At a morning press briefing Friedheim said about 30,000 sailors of the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean Sea would remain on a special standby alert, as they have been since Oct. 6. U.S. officials have been closely watching the increased size of the Soviet fleet of more than 90 ships in the Mediterranean since the recent Mideast War began.

Nearly all of 2.2 million American force was called to some degree of combat readiness in the pre-dawn hours last Thursday.

The spokesman said the Soviet naval presence in the Mediterranean Sea was continuing to grow, with the number of Russian vessels in the area "running in the 90s" by Tuesday. Some 60 American ships are in the same vicinity.

A naval task force led by the U.S. Carrier Hancock has entered the Indian Ocean, but White House officials said the movement was planned as part of a training exercise and "should not be seen as related to that crisis or as part of an effort to confront the Soviet Union.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat insisted today that Israeli forces in Egypt must pull back as a first step toward Middle East peace. Premier Golda Meir left Israel for Washington and talks with President Nixon on prospects for negotiations.

Sadat said in a news conference that there will be no exchange of war prisoners until the Israelis move back to the Oct. 22 cease-fire line.

He gave an emphatic "no" to the idea of direct peace negotiations with Israel. But he said once disengagement starts, an international peace conference on the Middle East could begin under U.N. auspices.

Mrs. Meir was expected to combine thanks for U.S. aid in the Middle East conflict with complaints about reported U.S. pressure on Israel to make concessions to the Arabs.

On departure for Washington, Mrs. Meir said, "There are naturally problems that have to be discussed." But she added, "I am leaving with the true feeling that they will be discussed in friendship."

The Israelis permitted more supplies for the Egyptian 3rd Army to pass through their lines. A command spokesman in Tel Aviv said, "Some technical difficulties held up the relief convoy this morning, but 23 trucks are now unloading."

The food, water and medical supplies are for the 20,000-man Egyptian army that Israel says is cut off in the Sinai Desert east of the Suez canal by Isreali forces on the west bank.

The Egyptians claim that Israeli forces took up new positions on the west bank between the Oct. 22 cease-fire and the second truce Oct. 24. Sadat's demand that Israel pull back to the Oct. 22 positions would allow Egypt to link up with its 3rd Army again.

In his news conference Sadat, who wore a military uniform, said his forces could easily defeat Israeli units on the west bank of the canal and pressure was building up on him to do so.

Halloween is ready to unleash its ghosts and goblins on the Sikeston area tonight. However, if all witches look as bewitching as November Calendar Girl Teresa Marie Houchin, trick or treating won't be such an unpleasant event after all. The 17-year- old Miss Sikeston winner is a senior at Sikeston High School where her favorite subject is English. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Houchin, 1019 Davis Blvd. The 5-foot 8-inch beauty weighs 135 pounds, has brown hair and eyes and can certainly catch the attention of any Halloween Jack-o-lantern.

Police will try to curb vandals with extra men

Sikeston police will be out in force tonight in an effort to hold down vandalism during Halloween, according to Police Chief Leon Culp.

Culp said auxiliary policemen will be driving unmarked radio cars and a double shift of regular policemen will be on patrol duty, he said, meaning about three times as many officers will be on duty as on a normal night.

The extra men will stay as long as necessary to keep things under control, Culp said. They will stay out until at least midnight, he said.

Tractor struck by Frisco train near Pascola

PASCOLA-- A Frisco train engine and a farm tractor collided at 11:55 a.m. on a county crossing one mile west of Pascola.

The highway patrol said today the accident occurred when Leon Sellers, 41, of Pascola, drove his tractor onto the tracks before he saw the train, which struck the tractor and knocked it off the tracks.

Sellers received a broken left leg and multiple cuts and scratches and was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Dexter delays action on ambulance issue

DEXTER — No action was taken by the City Council on a proposal submitted by the Stoddard County Court regarding financing for the purchase of ambulances to comply with new state laws in a special council meeting Tuesday night.

Mayor Willis Conner said today he hopes to meet again with the court before making a decision.

The proposal, which was sent to all Stoddard County mayors, stated that the County Court will pay $1,000 toward any new vehicle which is available through the Bureau of Emergency Medical Service, Missouri Division of Health for $3,500 per local share.

The court will also pay 30 per cent toward the purchase

Comprehensive plan is reviewed

Members of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission met Tuesday night with the Citizens Advisory Committee to review progress on the updating of the City of Sikeston comprehensive plan.

The advisory committee has been appointed to help the Planning and Zoning Commission establish a set of goals and objectives for the city's comprehensive plan.

The plan will help guide the city in making future decisions. The plan will include the statement of goals and objectives, a description of physical features of the city, a survey of the business and residential areas and city and cultural facilities, a capital improvements program, a future land use program and a street inventory, according to Kenneth Waido, a representative of BRPC.

The comprehensive plan is mandatory for the city to get federal funds, Waido said. The city already has a comprehensive plan, and the study is being made to update it.

Comprehensive plans should be updated every five years, Waido said.

The plan will be turned over to the city in June when all the work is completed, Waido said.

"What the city wants to do in the next five years is what the plan is all about," Waido stated.

Waido said the housing survey was completed but the maps have not been drawn up.

The survey shows there are 4,441 sound structures in the city, or 91 per cent of the total. There are 241 deteriorating homes, or 4.9 per cent, and 37 delapidated

Gov. Bond criticizes sales tax study

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Gov. Christopher S. Bond has blasted drafters of a University of Missouri-St. Louis state sales tax study, which initially said the state had lost $230 million in collections but then was revised to a figure of only $60 million.

"The most charitable thing you could say of them is that they're grossly incompetent," Bond said during a wide-ranging press conference here Tuesday.

The study covered a six-year period during the administration of former Democratic Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, and an error in calculation was discovered after Hearnes convinced the drafters to recheck their figures.

Bond questioned the reliability of the corrected study also, saying state officials had found even more errors in that version. It appears now, he said, that the study shows the state was collecting more sales tax than was due it.

"I think the whole study is useless," the guvernor said. He noted, however, that his administration has found gaps in previous sales tax collection practices, and pointed out that tax collection rose 11 per cent during the first nine months of his term, a greater jump than during the same period in 1972.

On other topics, Bond said he would favor issuance of special license plates to Missouri car owners if the fee was sufficient.

"I have no objection to raising additional revenue for the state through purchase of special plates," he commented. "I would suggest a $50 figure."

The governor recently vetoed legislation that would continue low-numbered plates after this year for a premium fee of $12, claiming that amount was not sufficient to cover costs.

Bond also indicated a special session of the General Assembly may be called this fall to deal with state reorganization. But he said that would depend on whether "possible success would outweigh the inconvience."

But the governor, who vetoed a reorganization measure earlier this year after it was changed by the legislature, predicted he would have a "workable program" for reorganization developed by mid-November.

In commenting on the granting of pardons to crime figures by former Gov. Hearnes and former Lt. Gov. William S. Morris during the closing days of the Hearnes administration, Bond said he felt the actions were questionable.

Proper procedures had not been followed, he noted, and added that he would not grant pardons unless they were investigated and approved by the Probation and Parole Board.

Bond also said he felt fellow Republicans John C. Danforth, attorney general, and Lt. Gov. William Phelphs had good chances of defeating incumbant Democrat Thomas F. Eagleton for the U.S. Senate in next year's election. But he said he did not know if either man would run.

2 quit; election called

ESSEX-- A special election has been called to fill two City Council vacancies created by the resignation of the Rev. John Tucker and Joe Williamson following the firing of water commissioner Lee DeJournett by Mayor Bob Razer.

The issue came to a boiling point a few weeks ago when the mayor proposed the firing of DeJournett. Williamson and the Rev. Mr. Tucker voted against the dismissal and Councilmen Slim Eaton and E. B. Cobb voted for it. The mayor had the decisive vote.

Candidates for councilman in ward one are Vernon Gale Jordan, James L. Hayes and J. C. Crasno. In ward two, Mary Lee Poe and Jerry Clay have filed for councilman.

CRIME AND ITS VICTIMS

When people speak of criminal justice, they mean bringing criminals to justice. The forgotten man in this equation is the crime victim, who usually must pay his medical bills from his own pocket. A Belgian penologist, Adolphe Prins, sarcastically summed up contemporary criminal procedure almost 80 years ago: "The guilty man -- lodged, fed, clothed, warmed ... entertained at the expense of the state in a model cell -- issues from it with a sum of money lawfully earned; he had paid his debt to society; he can set his victims at defiance; but the victim has this consolation, he can think that by the taxes he pays the treasury, he has contributed towards the paternal care which has guarded the criminal during his stay in prison."

But the situation appears to be changing. Ten states now have programs to comepnsate victims of violent crime for personal injuries and loss of earnings. And it seems only a matter of time before Congress approves a nationwide program. The Senate passed a crime-compensation bill on Oct. 8 -- the fifth time it has done so -- and similar legislation is being considered by a House Judiciary subcommittee. Under the Senate measure, victims would receive up to $50,000 for their uninsured medical costs and earnings losses. In the case of homicide, otherwise uncompensated survivors would receive $50,000.

The rationale for compensation rests on the implied governmental pledge of protection against crime. Local and state authorities maintain police forces, and carrying of concealed weapons for self- defense, without a permit, is generally forbidden. Thus, when a crime is committed, government may be said to be partly responsible.

Compensation sounds like a new idea, but it is almost as old as law itself. The principle reached its highest development in Anglo-Saxon England. As the Anglo - Saxons saw it, every part of the body had its value, from 50 shillings for an eye or a foot to sixpence for a toenail. Today's compensation programs are considerably less detailed. Still, their supporters would agree with William Tallack, a British penal reformer of the 19th century, that the ancient practice of compensation was "wiser in principle, more reformatory in its influence, more deterrent in its tendency, and more economic to the community, then the modern practice."

WHAT LEISURE?

Contrary to anything you may have heard, we are still some distance from becoming a leisure- oriented society with a lot of unfilled an unfulfilling time on our hands.

True leisure time is actually shrinking among Americans, says Prof. Roger Blackwell of Ohio State University, even as they become more affluent. More and more time in the 24- hour day is taken up in getting to work, attending PTA meetings, working on income tax returns and what-not.

Furthermore, he points out, the work week is not getting shorter. Overtime and second jobs have kept the average work week constant or lengthened it slightly. Also some 69 per cent of all families today have more than one wage earner, with 41 per cent of all wives working outside the home.

"Interestingly enough, however, I do not recall seeing these same members shedding such crocodile tears for the poor, overworked taxpayer, the one who inevitably is required to pick up the tab for this program."

The cost to taxpayers is no idle reference. In its first fiscal year, 1965, Congress authorized $75 million for the overall food stamps program. This year the cost will be an estimated $2.5 billion.

GOVERNMENT EDGES
INTO 'MONOPSONY'

In economics, "monopoly" is the term that describes the domination of a market by a single seller. "Monopsony" is the term that describes the domination of a market by a single buyer.

The latter is of more than merely academic interest to economic theorists. According to a recently released study, the federal government has acquired the characteristics of a monopsony as a buyer of goods and services in at least one field and is on the way to monopsony in others.

The study — "Monopsony: A Fundamental Problem in Government Procurement" was commissioned by the Aerospace Industries Assn., which represents the major manufacturers of the nation's aircraft, spacecraft, missiles and related components.

The study warns that the problems presented an allpowerful single buyer are no longer restricted to defense and space suppliers. Government agencies are taking an increasingly active role in such areas as mass transit, education, health and environmental protection.

The significance of this trend, the study points out, is apparent from the fact that federal government purchases now constitute nearly 10 per cent of the gross national product.

The annual increase in these kinds of government expenditures over the last decade (adjusted for inflation) has been nearly 3 per cent. Many forecasts project increases of 24 per cent or more in the current decade.

"One of the unique and distressing aspects of the process by which government acquires major (production) systems," the study says, "Is that all too often all of the parties involved are unhappy with the results.

"Congressional and executive agency spokesmen frequently cite examples of schedule slippages, technical failures and cost overruns.

"Industry in turn points to changing requirements, excessive regulation, inequitable procurement practices and unacceptably low profits.

"A confused public, generally unsophisticated on the subject, is likely to conclude that government officials and private industry are misallocating and mismanaging scarce public resources."

As a follow-up to the study, the Aerosapce Industries Assn. is now calling on Congress to establish an independent regulatory board to monitor and limit government's monopsony power, just as the Justice Department's antitrust division limits the use of monopoly power in industry.

It recommends that the basic criterion which should govern the procurement process, as well as the actions and approvals of such a regulatory board, should be the conditions and outcomes that would result in a balanced free-market situation.

"in the end," the association states, "what is in jeopardy is not one or two industries but rather our capability, as a nation, to undertake programs in which the resources of government and industry must be committed to the development and implementation of solutions to society's problems."

THE AGNEW
RESIGNATION:
A BENEFICIAL RESULT?

"My decision to resign ... rests on my firm belief that the public interest requires swift disposition of the problems which are facing me.

"I am convinced that a full legal defense of the probable charge against me could consume several years. I am concerned that intense medial interest in the case would distract public attention from important national problems, to the country's detriment."

So stated Spiro T. Agnew in that Baltimore courtroom in what will go down as one of the most dramatic scenes in American history.

Despite the self- serving tone of Mr. Agnew's choice of words — his speaking of "probable charge" a few minutes before the Justice Department released a 40-page document detailing a variety of criminal activities laid against him, his reference to "intense media interest," as if the press and not himself was responsible for his problems — there is at this point no reason to deny to this tragic man whatever credit for nobility of gesture attaches to his decision to resign the nation's second highest elective office.

Nevertheless, in the hours and days since that momentous event, Americans have been able to think or talk of little else. They remain more than distracted — they are shocked, stunned, bewildered as they have not been since the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Never before has so high a public figure resigned in the face of criminal charges. The only other vice presidential resignation, that of John C. Calhoun in 1832 to take a Senate seat, was an entirely different matter.

What can possibly happen next?

Reams of speculation have already been churned forth on President Nixon's possible nominee or nominees to replace Mr. Agnew as the 25th Amendment dealing with presidential and vice presidential succession comes into play for the first time, and in a manner never dreamed of by Congress when it submitted the amendment to the states for ratification in 1965.

An unprecedented thing has happened in American politics and they will never be the same again.

As one commentator has observed, the process of selecting a vice president, which has traditionally taken place behind closed doors and almost as an anticlimax to our nominating conventions, will now be exposed to public view and to questions of political partisanship as never before. It could have a profound effect on the way we choose our vice presidents - who are always potential presidents — in the future.

There is one thing Mr. Agnew's resignation, with all its as-yet- unknown ramifications, has distracted the nation from. That is Watergate, and the political future and governing effectiveness of Richard Nixon himself.

No one cares to think about the possibility of yet another premature departure from office that would leave the country even more shocked, stunned and leaderless.

Thus it may be that someday the Vice President's resignation will be seen as having had a benefit other than sparing the nation the distraction of a prolonged legal struggle — that of permitting his being President to complete his alloted term in the White House.

This sorry chapter in our history will have had the most beneficial result of all if it leads to a cleansing of the political system and a new dedication on the part of those who administer that system to simple truth, honesty and public service.

HALF THE BLINDNESS IS UNNECESSARY

At least 442,000 Americans are blind and an additional 35,000 will lose their eyesight by the end of 1973 — half of them unnecessarily.

Statistics compiled by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness indicate that half the nation's sightless could have prevented their blindness if proper medical care had been instituted by periodic examinations or when systptoms of trouble appeared.

According to Virginia Boyce, the society's executive director, 50 per cent of all blindness is due to disease, accident, neglect or ignorance.

Cataract is the leading cause. Its only known cure is surgery, but more than 95 per cent of operations are safe and successful.

No. 2 is glaucoma, which at this moment threatens nearly 1,800,000 Americans 35 years of age or older but which for the most part can be controlled if discovered and treated in its early stages.

The greatest danger with glaucoma is that most victims don't know they have it. They can very gradually lose their sight without pain or other symptoms.

Currently, the standard examination for glaucoma uses a tonometer, a small instrument which the ophthalmologist, a physician specializing in the eyes, places briefly on each eyeball to measure pressure inside the eye. The eyes first need to be numbed with a drop or two of anesthetic.

A major improvement on this technique is a noncontact tonometer invented by Dr. Bernard Grolman, a scientists with the American Optical Corp. of Framingham, Mass.

This extremely delicate electronic instrument measures eye pressure by directing a quick, slight pulse of air and does not touch the eye. It is reportedly as accurate as the contact tonometer, works much faster, causes no discomfort to the patient and can be operated by a technician rather than a physician, thus making it easier and less expensive to give large groups of people glaucoma examinations.

A number of state and local Societies for the Prevention of Blindness will conduct mass screenings in the coming year using the noncontact tonometer. Potential glaucoma victims will be advised to consult an ophthalmologist.

UNDERMINING
CREDIBILITY

An example of environmentalism swamped by its own excesses can be seen in Seattle, Washington, which a year ago was in the vanguard of the environmentalist movement. Today, environmentalism has become, as one observer puts it, "...the butt of malicious humor at cocktail parties and in working class taverns throughout the region."

The reason, says the observer, is "The SST....Whether or not the SST makes good sense, economically or environmentally, is beside the point here. The point is that the environmental movement, in its campaign against the project, played fast and loose with the facts, and let emotion totally overcome rationality...hundreds of thousands of people... have become convinced that environmental leaders whom they previously had respected, have been lying to them....The credibility of the entire...movement has been...damaged...."

Seattle reacted strongly against those who distorted facts about the SST. It is a city which knows its aerospace technology. Almost everyone has a degree of knowledgability about the SST and the facts of its environmental effects. A distinct disservice has been rendered by the extremists to the long- range goal of environmental preservation.

FREEING CRIMINALS TO PUNISH THE POLICE

The strange practice of freeing known criminals to punish the police because of technical, procedural irregularities has been established in our courts and perpetrated against the public. Despite the often horrendous results of this practice, with vicious killers and rapists loosed upon the public to commit new crimes because of the error of a few policemen, it had seemed to be beyond challenge until very recently. Congressman Sam Steiger of Arizona has introduced a bill, H. R. 10275, to abolish this practice in the federal courts.

Technically, what causes the problem is known as the "exclusionary rule," under which any evidence obtained by unauthorized procedures cannot be introduced at a trial, no matter how clear and untainted the evidence itself may be or how guilty the culprit.

As Congressman Steiger pungently put it:

"Police and prosecutors should obey all the rules. If a detective forgets to dot every 'i' and cross every 't', maybe he should be demoted, or sent back to walking a beat, or in extreme cases even fired. But for the life of me, I have never been able to understand what good it does to turn a convicted criminal loose. It doesn't chastise the errant policeman. It doesn't protect innocent people. It doesn't contribute to the safety of society in general."

Congressman Steiger's arguments seem truly unanswerable. Let us hope that the time has come when common-sense legislation like his can be favorably acted upon by Congress and quickly put into effect in the courts. This bill deserves the support of people of good influence, especially Constructive letter-to- the- editor writers. HLH

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a professional telephone bugger gets tired of hearing:

"If you are so good at your work, why hasn't your name been brought out in the Watergate investigations?"

"What do you hear, Jake?"

"I want you to fix it so I can listen in on my wife's private conversation, but no one else can—and not even you."

"What would you charge to rent me some old tapes? I'm a television soap opera writer, and I'm looking for some material with true-to-life dialogue."

"I don't know how much my business partner paid you to tap my telephone, but if you can keep your trap shut I'll pay you twice as much to put a tap on his line for me. He must be stealing twice as much as I am."

"If you don't let me listen the next time you bug a movie star's apartment, Jake, I'll divorce you. As your wife, I should be entitled to get some pleasure out of this dirty work you're doing. Heaven knows it doesn't pay much."

"That was a good idea to bug the old man's dentures, Jake, but I haven't heard a word from him for an hour. Do you suppose he took them out and dunked them in a glass of water on his bedside table?"

"As your accountant, Jake, I have to say we are not doing too well. It is true that you earned $25,000 last year in blackmail money on which you didn't pay taxes, but, on the other hand, as you had to dish out $500 a week to keep the cops off your back, you'd have done better if you had spent the same time doing honest work, revolting as I know that must sound to you."

"As a man you taught the business to, Jake, even though we are rivals now, I feel I ought to tell you something as a professional courtesy. The cops hired me to put a tap on your bookie's phone, and I overheard him the other night ordering one of his strong boys to put the muscle on you if you don't pay what you owe him by Friday."

"Frankly, your medical problem has me puzzled, and I may have to call in a consultant. Just how long did you say you had this strange buzzing in your ears?"

"No, I don't want you to tape my business competitor's phone to learn his secrets. What I want you to do is to sell him on the idea of tapping our phones to learn our secrets. They are driving us bankrupt, and if he stole a few they might force him to the wall, too."

"Please, Daddy, don't read me anymore bedtime stories. Just draw me a few diagrams so I can show the other kids in my class how to cheat the telephone company."

"Hi, lover boy, come over right away and sneak in the back way. Don't worry about my husband. He's out on an allnight case. And Jake's such a big dumb ox he'd never think of putting a bug in his own bedroom."

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: How Soviets Orchestrated Fourth Arab- Israeli War

WASHINGTON -- The story is now leaking out of the strained, secret diplomacy that followed the outbreak of hostilities in the Middle East. In one secret report, the Central Intelligence Agency suggests that the Soviets actually orchestrated the Arab attack. It was part of a desperate maneuver, the CIA quotes an informed source as saying, to hang on to their beachhead in the Middle East.

Before the attack, Egypt had thrown out Soviet military advisers, tightened its ties with Saudi Arabia and shifted toward the West. Even in Syria, which had been the most Moscow-minded of the Arab powers, the Soviets had encountered growing hostility.

Other intelligence reports raise doubts about the precise Soviet role in planning the surprise attack. But the Kremlin clearly had advance knowledge that it was coming.

PREWAR SHIPMENTS

It has also been established that Soviet military shipments, both by air through Yugoslavia and by water through the Black Sea, started on their way before the guns began booming.

Immediately after the outbreak, President Nixon appealed to Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev for restraint. Both the superpowers,urged the President, should keep hands off the Middle East war.

Brezhnev argued that the Arabs had the right to recapture their lost lands and, therefore, that the United States was equally justified in helping Israel repel armed aggression.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger stressed to Soviet Ambasador Anatoly Dobrynin that the United States was quite capable of matching Soviet shipments and maintaining the military supply balance in the Middle East.

HELD BACK For four days, the United States held back military shipments to Israel while Kissinger tried to persuade the Russians to exercise similar restraint. However, the Soviet tonnage not only began to pour into Egypt and Syria, but the Russians also beefed up their naval strength in the Mediterranean.

In response, the United States used its superior airlift capacity to catch up with the Soviet shipments. This apparently surprised the Soviet strategists, who had thought the United States wouldn't risk an oil cut-off to support the embattled Israelis.

Intelligence reports claim, meanwhile, that the cautious Egyptian commanders wanted to consolidate their hold on the Suez Canal's east bank but were goaded by the Russians to expand the offensive.

Brezhnev also brought personal pressure, according to one report, on Jordan's King Hussein, Morocco's King Hassan and Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba to join in the fighting.

KREMLIN PANICS

When the Israelis outmaneuvered the Egyptians by moving across the Suez and cutting the Egyptian supply lines, the Kremlin began showing signs of panic. Another Arab humiliation could backfire on the Soviets, whose role in the debacle could bring them more blame than praise from Arab leaders.

Suddenly, Brezhnev sent President Nixon an urgent message requesting that Kissinger come to Moscow at once to negotiate a cease - fire. Then, the Soviets, in their haste to end the fighting, wanted to rush in a joint Soviet-American force to police the cease -fire.

President Nixon rejected the idea of direct superpower involvement in the Middle East. The Soviets apparently mistook this as a delaying tactic and sent a bristling note to the President, threatening to send its own troops to the Middle East to keep the peace.

The President reacted by placing the U.S. armed forces on a military alert. Then both of the big powers wisely backed away from a confrontation.

GRIZZLY REPORT: A secret Interior Department study warns that the nation's grizzly bear population is in danger of extinction because their food supply as been suddenly closed down.

In Yellowstone National Park, the last major stronghold of the big beasts, the grizzlies had fed for years on campers' garbage. Six years ago, a study urged that the dumps be closed gradually so the bears could return to their old eating habits in the wild.

Instead, the National Park Service has shut down the dumps abruptly, thus driving the panicky bears into campsites and off-park lands, where they have been shot.

The new secret study, done by Interior consultants, warns: "The grizzly bear population in Yellowstone Park and surrounding areas has declined rapidly and will continue to do so if conditions remain unaltered."

Sikestonian given cancer award

Addie Mae Jones of Sikeston recently received the Crusade Spirit Award, a special award from the National Cancer Society, at the Oct. 19- 20 meeting of the Missouri Cancer Society in Jefferson City.

This is the first year the award was given and it was presented to only two persons in Missouri. It is given for interest shown in helping to promote, publicize and aid the cure of cancer.

Miss Jones served as Scott County chairman of the crusade last year and the county exceeded its $8,000 goal. All county chairmen whose counties exceeded their goals were recognized.

The special award was accepted for Miss Jones in her absence by Dean David Strand of Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

Miss Jones said she was surprised but happy to have received one of the Crusade Spirit awards. She added that leaders and workers for the 1974 Scott County crusade are already volunteering for jobs and added that anyone interested in helping may contact her.

Milk funding to be restored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced Wednesday it will restore full funding of the special milk program to provide snack time milk for school children.

The department also said a new federal regulation which went into effect last August allows school cafeterias to serve nonfat dry milk if the product is reconstituted into liquid form at dairy processing plants.

Funding for the special milk program will be restored to the full level provided in the department's appropriations legislation for the 1973-74.

Last July, the department said it would hold special milk spending this school year to $25 million. But Congress insisted that $97.1 million be used to provide children milk at snack periods in addition to servings at regular meals.

Administration officials had wanted to limit special milk servings to schools not having regular meal service.

In bowing to Congress, the department said it will reimburse schools participating in the National School Lunch Program at a rate of four cents per one-half pint of special milk served.

"For other schools and for child care institutions which sell milk to children at a separate charge, the maximum rate of reimbursement is set at three cents per half pint," the department said.

Those are the reimbursement rates which applied previously before USDA announced last summer the cutback in special milk spending, officials said.

The practice of serving reconstituted nonfat dry milk is not believed widespread at this time, a spokesman for the Food and Nutrition Service said, and savings to schools which use dry milk as a food source would be limited.

Milk rules affecting school lunches and other child nutrition programs were changed Aug. 13 to permit the use of low fat, skim milk and cultured buttermilk in addition to regular whole milk.

The spokesman said the rule also has been interpreted to allow the use of reconstituted powdered milk as long as the practice complies with state and local laws.

That means schools and other institutions can collect federal reimbursement for serving the alternate milk products.

In the case of school lunch programs, the federal government reimburses schools at the rate of eight cents per half pint served.

A new bill which revamps federal child nutrition assistance provides a 10 cent reimbursement. The bill, is awaiting approval by President Nixon.

Officials said the requirement that schools must have nonfat dry milk reconstituted by dairy plants was stipulated for sanitary reasons since most cafeterias are not equipped to do the job within health requirements.

Judge speaks on child abuse

Child abuse is difficult to legislate and laws regarding it are much more difficult to enforce, Judge Marshall Craig told Kiwanians Tuesday night at Ramada Inn.

Judge Craig said there has been a law on the books against child abuse since 1921, but only six cases have been handled in appellate court since that time. In 1972 another law was passed to reinforce the old one.

Persons who have information about child abuse should contact the Division of Welfare which will investigate the information. Children under two years of age are the most often victims of abuse, the judge said.

The courts must have facts before they can prosecute. Failure to prosecute may be due to family situations, he added.

Waido said the survey found 143 trailers in the city. There were 98 sound structures vacant, most of them under construction, he said.

The survey was made from a car by sight only, Waido said.

One of the problems encountered in compiling the survey was that property lines don't match up with the city plats. An example he gave was one location where the plat showed 15 houses, but there were actually 18.

The committee will meet with BRPC members again on Nov. 14.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — When the New Jersey Turnpike was opened to the public on Jan. 15, 1952, the driver of a passenger car traveling the full turnpike length of 118 miles from Deepwater to Ridgefield Park paid a toll of $1.75.

The toll today is still $1.75. That averages to 1.48 cents per mile — next to the lowest car toll on any of the major toll roads in the nation. Cheapest is the 241-mile Ohio Turnpike, with a per-mile toll of 1.45 cents.

BACH IS FLYING AGAIN

COOK, Neb. (AP) — Production has begun in Nebraska on "Nothing by Chance," a feature-length documentary film, based on a book by Richard Bach. Bach is also the author of "Jonathan Livingston Seagull."

The story is about barnstorming with antique airplanes, including a look at the men who fly them.

Ann Landers

Minorities have own anecdotes

Dear Ann Landers: I am asking you to print this letter to my mother-in-law because I haven't the nerve to say it---- or even send it.

Dear Mom: I love you because you have been good to me, but you did a lousy job of raising your son.

I knew it before I married him so I shouldn't complain, but here's the way it is: When he didn't want to go to school you let him stay home. When he didn't want to go to work, you covered up for him and lied to his boss. He never knew what it was to accept responsibility for himself because you always accepted it for him.

When we married I had a good job, so he quit his. Finally I quit working so he HAD to go to work. He's been steadily employed ever since.

He didn't believe in God because you decided not to "force" religion on him. You decided to wait until he was old enough to choose his own religion.

This past year he has begun to shape up into a fine human being, something I knew was buried down there. But you left an awful lot of work for me. Twenty-eight is pretty late to start growing up. But I'm sure he'll make it now and I'll help him, because we love each other.--- Your Daughter-In-Law

Dear Daughter-in-law: Granted, you married a mess--- and his mother probably helped mess him up. But what do you expect her to do about it NOW? The real value of your letter is for young mothers who are raising their children. The lesson here is for them.

Dear Ann Landers: I was amused by the column in which you quoted the violinist Nathan Milstein's explanation for the fact that a great many of the world's finest violinists were Jewish. He said when the Jews were run out of one country after another on short notice it was easier to grab a violin than a piano.

Here's an anecdote about another pushed-around minority. A new singing star, Ellerine Harding, who was raised in the black ghetto of Newark with Sarah Vaughan, was asked if there was anything special about that neighborhood which produced outstanding singers. "I guess there is," Ellerine said. "A person can develop strong vocal cords just yelling for help."-- Ann Fan In New Rochelle

Dear Fan: Lovely.

Dear Ann Landers: Aren't you tired of cliches---- those canned things people say to each other out of habit? For example, the question, "How are you?" Most people don't give a darn how you are.

A friend of mine decided to do something about it. He had some cards printed up and when people asked him how he was he handed them one.

The card read:

"Since you asked me how I am, I will tell you. My appendix is in and my tonsils are out. My diaphragm is working nicely and my sinuses are clear. My gallbladder is O.K. but I have a couple of corns that are killing me and a bunion that is so active it can forecast the weather. I got rid of my dandruff last year but a lot of my hair went with it. I broke my nose but it's still running. If you want any more information let me know and I'll send you the X-rays my doctor took last week."

Funny, eh?--- Providence, R. I.

Dear P.: Not very, but I'm printing it so others can see what some people think is funny.

The couple will live at Benton where Bewley is employed by Nickerson Farms.

Watkinses celebrate 50 years

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. (Toby) Watkins, 613 Tanner St., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Oct. 27 with an open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rice, 1027 N. Kingshighway.

The affair was hosted by the couple's children and their families: Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Watkins Jr. of Farmington and Mrs. Ruth Ingersoll of Houston, Tex.

North title up for grabs

Charleston and Illmo-Scott City remained as the only undefeated teams in Southeast Missouri last week after rolling up their seventh straight victory of the season.

Coach Joe Black's Blue Jays are the only team not scored upon in the district after I-SC gave up its only points of the season last week against Hayti.

Friday night's Northern Division league battle matching the league's unbeatens, CHS and Poplar Bluff, should provide the winner with a big shot at the title.

The Southern Division is virtually wrapped up by the Dexter, who is undefeated in four league encounters and has only Chaffee and Malden standing between them and the coveted title.

I-SC, the district's leading offensive team with 249 points, has already wrapped up its sixth straight Bootheel Division championship.

With only three weeks of high school football left, the races for the Northern and Southern Division league crown's will get under way once again.

The Northern Conference is far from being over with five teams having a shot at the crown. Cape Central, Poplar Bluff and Charleston have the best chances to win the crown with the Mules being the likely choice after the victory over Cape Central.

J. J. Black of Charleston is the leading scorer in the area with 90 points which leads the Northern Division. Black is followed by Steve C. Taylor of Cape Central with 78 points, Loren Sides, of Jackson with 60 and Kent Sutherland of Charleston and Steve Cash of Poplar Bluff with 48 each.

Randy Bohn of Scott City, though he did not score last week, still leads the Bootheel Division with 56 but Tim Odom of Doniphan is closing in with a 50 point total. Rich Baker and Richard Springs of Scott City follow Odom with 44 and 39 points respectively.

Scott City has already won their league and are now trying to capture a berth in the state play-offs. They were rated third in the state in their class last week behind Cabool and Priory, but their victory over Hayti should boost them into second place.

Don Backfish of Dexter leads the Southern Division scorers with 60 points. Caruthersville's John Townsend follows on the heels of Backfish with 42 points. Billy Gibson of Portageville has 41 points and Eddie Martin and Jim Morgan of Hayti are one point behind Gibson. East Prairie is led by Perry Jones with 16 points, Mark Mitchell of Chaffee has 22 points, and Malden's Nick Arnold has 22 points.

SHS faces league's best

By STUART McGHEE

"Jackson could possibly be the best team in the conference" Coach Terry Smith reported to the Standard when asked about the Bulldogs competitor this Friday night. Coach Smith just might be right, The Indians lost a close match to the Poplar Eluff Mules and beat the Cape Central Tigers statistically, although the final score didn't reflect this victory.

The Indians have compiled a 4-1 record this season. In conference action they are 1-2 with a win over the Kennett Indians and losses to Poplar Bluff and Cape Central.

Jackson's leading scorer is All- State Running Back Loren Sides with 60 points followed by Mark Jones and Rob Bishop with 28 and 24 points respectively.

Jackson's offense has rolled up 173 points this year while their defense has allowed 56.

The Bulldogs will enter this contest with a 1-5 record with a victory over the Kennett Indians and losses going to Farmington, Perryville, Charleston, Dexter, and Cape Central.

The Dog's offensive team have scored 46 points and the defensive team has allowed 99 points so far this season. The leading scorers for the Bulldogs are Greg Colwick and Rick Love with 12 points each. Following Colwick and Love are Roy Bowman and Tom DeRoush with six points.

The Bulldogs are working on their passing attack for this ball game after five completions out of 20 attempts last week against the Cape Central Tigers. The five completions netted 63 yards in the air.

The Bulldogs, hampered by injuries earlier this season, will be in full force for this week's game.

It will be Homecoming in Sikeston this week and spirit should be at all- time high among the players and Bulldog Fans.

Season nears

Flocks of waterfowl moving into Missouri signal the approach of the autumn season, which opens Thursday. All waterfowl areas are reporting good concentrations of ducks and geese. Fall color should peak early in November, later than usual.

Opener Thursday

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri waterfowl season opens Thursday. The duck season will run until Dec. 15.

The Missouri Conservation Department said today flood waters are receding enough so hunters can expect fairly normal conditions.

Officials said the Fountain Grove, Schell- Osage and Swan Lake waterfowl areas have been plagued by muddy roads and flooded blinds and pits, but hunters will be able to use the areas if there is no more rain.

Missouri will be on a point system this year for the first time, with different species and sexes of ducks worth varying amounts of points. Hunters may take ducks until their take puts them at or over 100 points.

The goose season varies, according to zones and species. In the Swan Lake zone, where most Missouri Canada geese are taken, there will be a 17,500 goose quota — or 70 days, whichever comes first.

'Hutch' forfeits

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Hutchinson Community Junior College announced Tuesday it has forfeited all basketball victories and awards the team won last season.

The announcement followed the revelation that Hutch star Rudy Jackson had never graduated from his New York high school and the Missouri Valley Conference had declared him ineligible.

Jackson sparked the Hutchinson club to a 29-4 record and a runner-up finish in the national junior college tournament here last April. He had transferred to Wichita State University but also will be ineligible to participate there.

A. H. Elland, president of the Hutchinson school, and Athletic Director Sam Butterfield in a news conference distributed copies of letters announcing the forfeiture. The letters were sent to all Hutch opponents and all members of the Jayhawk Juco Conference.

Ring found

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The World Series ring of Detroit pitcher Mickey Lolich, stolen from the locker room at old Municipal Stadium here during a game in 1971, has been recovered.

Lolich received the ring following the Tigers victory in the World Series in 1968. It is valued at $1,000.

Police said the ring was recovered Tuesday while officers were booking a man on a charge of attempted rape. He was searched and the ring was found in his pocket. Lolich's name was etched on the hand.

Seaver NL's best

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Seaver once said he'd be happy to last five years in the majors. Today, he is the owner of a second Cy Young Award as the National League's best pitcher.

"When I first started playing, I told my wife I'd be happy to get five years in the big leagues," the New York Mets right-hander said Tuesday after winning his second Cy Young Award in seven seasons in the majors.

"Now I want to pitch until I'm 35," added the 28-year-old Seaver, who became the fourth pitcher in the 18-year history of the award to win it more than once and the first in either the National or American Leagues to win it without at least 20 victories for the season.

But Seaver, who posted a 1910 record, and led the NL in strikeouts with 251 and in earned run average, 2.08, won comfortably over reliever Mike Marshall of Montreal and Ron Bryant of San Francisco, the league's only 20-game winner.

In voting by a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, Seaver got 10 first-place votes and 70 points after being named on 21 ballots, more than any other candidate.

Marshall, who was 14-11 with 31 saves in 92 appearances for Montreal, got nine first-place votes and 54 points in posting the best Cy Young showing ever for a relief pitcher.

Bryant got three first-place votes and 50 points for his 24-12 performance. However, his ERA was 3.53 and he was the first National League 20-game winner to fail to record a shutout since Willie Sherdel of St. Louis in 1928.

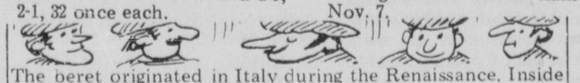
Others receiving support were Jack Billingham of Cincinnati, who got the other two first-place votes and 30 points; Don Sutton of Los Angeles, seven points; Fred Norman of Cincinnati, three, points, and Dave Giusti of Pittsburgh, one point.

"It means an awful lot to me because of the name that's on it and because it goes to one pitcher in the league—and that's it," said Seaver after joining Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles, 1963-65-66; Bob Gibson of St. Louis, 1968-70, and Denny McLain of Detroit in the American League, 1968-69, as multiple Cy Young Award winners.

"I really didn't think I'd win it," said Seaver, who also won in 1969 when he had a 25-7 record. "It was really a surprise because of the importance of winning 20 games. But all the other numbers (innings, strikeouts, earned run average, etc.) were there and I'm glad the voters looked at them.

"I think I pitched well enough to win 20," he added. During the regular season — post-season performances do not figure in the voting — Seaver lost 1-0 twice and 2-0, 2-1, 32 once each.

The American League Cy Young winner will be named Nov. 7.



The beret originated in Italy during the Renaissance. Inside the band was a string, which could be tightened to fit any head. The tiny bow on the inside of men's hats today is a survival of that string.

LSU favored

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Charlie McClendon of Louisiana State hopes his team won't be looking ahead Saturday to Nov. 22 when it plays Alabama, but he knows that Mississippi will be looking back to last Nov. 4 when the Rebels and Tigers met in Jackson, Miss.

The final score last year was LSU 17, Ole Miss 16. The Mississippi press guide lists the score as "Ole Miss 16, LSU 10 plus 7," and questions how the Tigers could get off two plays in the final four seconds.

"Was it an itchy finger triggering the clock in Tiger Stadium that was at fault, or did LSU actually have a second left to play when Bert Jones launched the pass which ended with a 10-yard touchdown to Brad Davis?" Ole Miss wonders.

LSU hasn't beaten Mississippi in Jackson since they began playing there every other year in 1965, losing three and tying one.

It says here, though, that Mclendon finally will beat Ole Miss in Jackson ... 21-10.

Last week's mark was 30, right, 13 wrong and two ties for .793. It included the exact score of Kansas' 22-20 triumph over Iowa State.

For the season, the count is 340-117-10—.a44.

Ohio State at Illinois: "Ohio State is a great team, but never has there been a great team which couldn't get knocked off," says Illinois' Bob Blackman. He's right. Ohio State could get beat ... by Michigan. Ohio State 33-21.

Iowa State at Oklahoma: Iowa State lost to Arkansas, Kansas State and Kansas by two points apiece and Coach Earle Bruce has a new defense for Oklahoma. "We're gonna play 12 men," he says. Won't help. Oklahoma 42-14.

Indiana at Michigan: "I think I can see the light at the end of the tunnel," says Indiana's Lee Corso. "Trouble is, I don't know how long the tunnel is." Well, Lee, it doesn't end in Ann Arbor. Michigan 42-0.

Navy at Notre Dame: Irish have designs on the national championship. Notre Dame 38-7.

Penn State at Maryland: Penn State has won its last three by a total score of 165-23. This one will be closer. Penn State 28-14.

Arizona State at Utah: Last year's score was 59-48 Arizona State. This year's? Arizona State 42-17.

Southern California at California: Trojans start a new unbeaten streak. Southern Cal 35-7.

Washington at UCLA: BruinsTrojans on Nov. 24 will decide the Pac-8 race. UCLA 56-7.

Georgia at Tennessee: Is it news when a Vol bites a Bulldog? Tennessee 28-17.

Kansas State at Missouri: Tigers looking back to Colorado and ahead to Oklahoma ... but not past K-State. Missouri 24-10.

Colorado at Nebraska: Buffs knocked off Missouri last week. When you're hot, you're hot. Upset Special of the Week ... Colorado 21-17.

Mizzou faces Wildcats

COLUMBIA, Mo., — It's a week when Missouri's football team might well heed the ancient warning:

"Beware the battered gladiator who limps into town."

Kansas State is Mizzou's sparring partner on Faurot Field this Saturday. Coach Vince Gibson's gang absorbed some crippling licks in their 56-14 defeat by Oklahoma last time out.

Yet, the Purple Pride is another tough, resilient Big Eight football team -- and that is reason enough for Ol' Mizzou to buckle all chin straps securely. The Tigers first three league outings have been decided by nine points overall.

An estimated crowd of 55,000 will watch the matchup.

Missouri must focus its defense on the ball- carrying forays of Isaac Jackson, the Big Eight's Secretariat -- and on tight end Henry Childs who's No. 2 in pass receptions.

Jackson is averaging 122.6 yards a game -- or 5.8 yards a crack. The nifty swifty from Macon, Ga. now holds K-State's career rushing mark, and has scored seven times this season.

Childs has nabbed 24 passes for 442 yards. The 218-pound senior -- another Georgian from Thomas ville -- broke for two scoring catches against Mizzou last year.

Missouri needs to exploit K-State's defenses for more than the Tigers' customary 13- point harvest. That's been the Black and Gold's cutoff point in the last three games.

Quarterback John Cherry, the sturdy, cool senior, again will be directing the offense -- with tailback Leroy Moss and slotback Bill Ziegler as accomplices. The fullback starter may depend on Ray Bybee's readiness -- after a two- week absence.

Cherry ran the club especially well at Boulder, pitching out deftly. The 195- pounder scored his first touchdown of the year on a 22- yard option keeper.

Moss scooted for 104 yards -- his career high -- moving up to no. 2 on the ball- carrying charts behind Tommy Reamon. It was Moss and sophomore Chris Hoskins handling all the tailback chores last week -- but Reamon should be back in the picture Saturday.

Steve Grogan is the Cats' quarterback, and his total offense yardage outstrips Cherry's on a per- game basis. Grogan is averaging 149 rush- pass yards, and Cherry 100.

Indians lead MIAA

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University's football Indians coupled a balanced offensive attack with a vicious defensive effort to defeat Lincoln University, 23-13, Saturday and put themselves in the driver's seat at the halfway point in the MIAA title chase.

The Indians are now the only team undefeated in conference play. Lincoln and Northwest Missouri State University of Maryville have each lost once in conference action while the other members of the seven- team circuit have each lost at least two league games.

Southeast Missouri State will try to hand Northwest Missouri State its second loss Saturday (Nov. 3) when the Bearcats make a 1:30 p.m. appearance at Houck Stadium here.

Discussing title prospects, Indian head coach Tom Thrower said, "We felt at the start of the season if we could get this far into our league schedule without a loss, we could win it."

Pointing out that the Indians would have to lose a conference game for any other team to have a shot at the crown, the coach added the one of his problems now is to keep his players from letting down.

Southeast Missouri State's overall record is 4-3 and the Indians are 3-0 in the MIAA. Lincoln is 3-4 overall and 1-1 in conference action.

In defeating the Tigers, the Tribe had to overcome Lincoln's fine defense, its 13- game home winning streak, and its partisan Homecoming crowd. The Indians also had to roar from behind after spotting the Tigers a 13- point lead.

The loss was the fist ever for the Tigers in their new stadium and only the third Homecoming defeat in Lincoln history.

Thrower had kind words for the Lincoln group of defenders, calling them "the finest group of athletes we've played against this year defensively."

But the head coach also praised his defensive unit's showing and the balance demonstrated by the offense.

The Indian defense held Lincoln to only 90 yards total offense. On the other hand, the Indian offense netted 184 yards rushing and 173 yards passing against a Lincoln team which, going into the contest, had allowed an average of less than 100 total yards per game in six starts.

The 173 yards passing of senior quarterback Lance Brune of Cape Girardeau enabled him to surpass the Southeast Missouri State career marks of his older brother Greg for total offensive yardage and passing yardage.

Brune hit on 14 of 25 attempts. Carl Gross, a junior tight end from Cape Girardeau, caught five of the passes for 55 yards. The Tribe's leading receiver, junior split end Ed Slaughter of Cape Girardeau, hauled in only two of Brune's tosses, but they wery good for 85 yards.

Senior running back John Babrisch of Hazelwood led the Indians in rushing with 97 yards and two touchdowns. Rick Attig, a senior fullback from Murphysboro, Ill., picked up 54 yards on the ground.

After Saturday's game with Northwest Missouri State, the Indians will have only two games remaining. One will be in Cape Girardeau on Nov. 10 against the University of Missouri-- Rolla, and the other will be in Warrensburg on Nov. 17 against Central Missouri State University.

Geese on their own

STOCKTON — From now on, it's up to the geese and if past history is any indication, the birds will do very well, thank you.

Stockton Reservoir got its second stocking of Giant Canada geese, the largest of the various sub-species of the familiar white - cheeked goose, in July.

The first stocking of the birds was in 1972 when the Department of Conservation released 15 pair after finishing a stocking on Bull Shoals Reservoir.

In July, the Department liberated 28 pair and a total of 59 birds. At last count, there were 87 geese on the reservoir.

"We held the goslings in captivity until they had fully developed flight feathers," says waterfowl biologist Ken Babcock. "This eliminated losses to ground predators. Also, we provided food at the release sight to encourage the birds to remain on the lake and get acquainted with their new home."

Babcock says the intent of the Stockton release is to establish a flock of geese with no intensive management, such as is done on other Department of Conservation areas -- notably Trimble Wildlife Area near Kansas City.

"We'll provide sanctuary in the form of a refuge and food from plantings," Babcock says. "From then on, it's up to them to make it on their own."

At Trimble, the Department has erected elevated nests in wash-tubs to discourage predators. Trimble has been the nursery for the big geese ever since the Department began to re-establish them in the mid-1950s.

Now there are resident flocks at Trimble, Schell-Osage, James A. Reed Memorial Wildlife Area, Duck Creek, August A. Busch Memorial Wildlife Area, Montrose, Pony Express and Hunnewell, and on Bull Shoals and Stockton.

Babcock thinks the resident Canada goose flock may number more than 4,000.

RAY CROMLEY

Abroad, we are our own undoing

By Ray Cromley

WASHINGTON (NEA — It's difficult to understand why the Nixon administration makes it so difficult for our friends abroad to come to our aid.

We have announced publicly we want more consultation. But we are reluctant to consult. Friends in Japan and other nations write me they worry that the United States is in such serious difficulties, and feel that, having been aided so greatly by this nation in times past, they want to do something to assist us now.

Yet to a great extent, this administration, despite its imaginative breakthroughs with the Soviet Union and China, is isolating itself as completely from our friends abroad as President Nixon has isolated himself within the White House.

The temporary soybean export restriction was one example of an action which could have been carried out in a way to increase our ties with Japan — but served instead to create new misunderstanding. It was not what we did, but the way we did it.

The soybean is politically very important in Japan, being a staple in the diet and an important meat substitute. So the export ban was a sensitive matter.

We first assured the Japanese we would honor our commitments. Then we slashed exports, reducing that promise to shambles. Now we've shifted again and it appears Japan will get what it requires.

The Japanese have asked us why we operated in this embarrassing way. They said they understand our inflation problems, that if we had come to them and pointed out our difficulties, the two countries could have talked out a solution which would have met U.S. requirements and Japan's needs.

The Japanese had, in fact, built stocks and had room to maneuver. "But to us," as one Japanese put it, "the way in which something is done is often more important than what is done." And that is what Washington forgot.

A friend who works daily with Latin American countries tells me we make the same mistake there. Say we have a legitimate disagreement with the government of one of the Latin lands. Instead of holding the long and exasperating informal talks which are often necessary in such circumstances, we stand on our rights formally in a way that invites subtle retaliation.

This is not to suggest we should cave in, but that we show a greater willingness to talk as equals and attempt to show the Latin officials we understand their political and economic problems, their emotions and even their prejudices — without being self-righteous and legalistic. In the end, more often than not, we would get our way.

In Latin America, delicate political matters frequently can be handled in personal, unofficial ways.

We are at present having quite a strong disagreement with Panama. But it so happens that there was in our embassy there an American who had built up a close personal relationship with the Panama chief of state, a man who has for some time given the United States a very difficult time.

Yet when this American pursued this relationship in perfectly proper but unofficial channels, his ambassador was infuriated. The unfortunate man, who could have done this country so much good, was thereupon transferred out of Panama. There was no suggestion that this American official had acted against the interests of the United States — only that his actions showed disrespect for the person of the ambassador, who by virtue of his post should have been the chief conduit in our relations with the president of Panama.

This bureaucratic over-regard for form and protocol has become endemic in the United States Foreign Service.

Frankly speaking

Nixon hands down two more vetoes

By THOMAS F. EAGLETON
U.S. Senator—Missouri

With two more vetoes handed to the Congress last week by the President – his eighth and ninth of the year – more and more people are coming to question the philosophy of negative government.

The latest bills to be struck down by the President were the War Powers Bill and a measure to authorize funds for the United States Information Agency.

Other vetoes this year include the Vocational Rehabilitation Bill, the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Bill, confirmation of the director of the Office of Management and Budget, the Emergency Medical Care Bill, the Minimum Wage Bill, the Second Supplemental Appropriations Bill for fiscal 1973, and the Small Business Act- Disaster Relief Bill.

To this list of vetoes can be added a long list of executive impoundments of funds which is an extra- constitutional form of veto.

the veto was not designed to allow an extraordinary concentration of Presidential power. It was provided for the Constitution as a legitimate means of bringing about a compromise on a controversial issue, and every President has used it. But when it is used as a bludgeon to force acceptance of one point of view, it leads to negative government.

As a result of the almost routine use of the veto, the issues the bills were dealing with have been dropped by the wayside, with the public again being the loser.

A lot has been said about the separation of powers lately and much stress has been given to the privileges and prerogatives of the three branches of our government. But too little has been said about the need for cooperation among those branches and their mutual dependency.

Without that spirit of cooperation, government becomes a series of confrontations, which in turn, breeds more confrontations.

Although the Constitution does provide for the separation of powers, a war between the branches was never included in the spirit of the Constitution.

Cooperation between the branches is needed now before the government becomes completely paralyzed. The landscape is already littered with the broken efforts to meet serious public problems. It is now absolutely necessary for the three branches of government to recognize their mutual interdependence and get on with the business of the nation.

THE LANGUAGE OF CATS
by Spencer Holst
(Bard 14381/$1.65
121 pp.)

Spencer Holst has read his stories at various gathering places of the underground literati with such success that he has become something of a mythic cult figure; THE LANGUAGE OF CATS is a compilation of some of his own favorites, now available from Avon in a Bard edition.

The Kirkus Reviews reflects the curious and at the same time whimsical flavor of much of Holst's writing by saying that reading his best stories is "like sitting at the knee of a delightfully demented fairy- tale grandfather."

Mona Lisa Meets Buddha is a sampling of the quixotic quality of Holst's work:

"Up in heaven the curtains fluttered, and the Mona Lisa entered at one end of a small hall, which was hung with many curtains.

Halloween is here

Skeletons, witches, pumpkins, spiders and other varmints have surrounded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wardell Stacy of Sikeston Route Four as they await Halloween night. The gaily decorated house has attracted much attention from passing motorists.

Leaders push Ford approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of impeachment proceedings against President Nixon is playing a part in the push by congressional leaders for early approval of Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford.

Congressional sources say the Democratic leadership feels that should a serious impeachment move develop, the 1972 presidential election results dictate that a Republican be next in line to assume the presidency.

Both House Speaker Carl Albert, now next in line for the presidency, and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield made clear Tuesday they favor prompt approval of Ford if nothing derogatory turns up in his confirmation hearings starting Thursday.

Albert said he hopes the House will vote on the nomination by Thanksgiving. Mansfield said "It is a fair statement" that the Democrats plan to push for prompt confirmation, barring any major disclosures.

Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., of Michigan, a former Republican who switched to the Democrats earlier this year, said it is "essential to have the confirmation vote in the House at the earliest possible moment."

The avalanche of telegrams urging impeachment action after the firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox has had two effects.

First, it has set into motion the House machinery for impeachment, with the Judiciary Committee launching a preliminary inquiry.

Second, it has prompted second thoughts among some Democrats who first responded to Nixon's actions by proposing that Ford's nomination be held up.

Democrats are mindful of the political storm that would be created if Congress tried to impeach a Republican president, elected in a landslide less than 12 months ago, at a time when a Democratic House speaker was next in line.

Talk of delaying action on the Ford nomination provoked an attack Tuesday night from former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, who said such a delay would demoralize and divide the nation.

Connally, speaking in New York City, said some members of Congress "have schemed to make a hostage of Vice President-designate Gerald Ford" while deliberating "new attacks" against President Nixon.

While it would only take a majority in the House to vote an impeachment resolution, and Democrats have that, it would take two-thirds in the Senate for conviction, and Democrats don't have that.

From a practical point of view, there would be no chance of getting many, if any, Republican votes for impeachment under those circumstances until the Ford nomination is confirmed.

Approval of Ford could, however, put a different light on the matter, by creating a situation in which the choice to GOP lawmakers could become one between an unpopular President and a popular congressional figure.

What's the law?

The case of the inflamed husband

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Alice and Bill owned their marital home "by the entirety" which, under ancient legal concept, meant that, as husband and wife, they owned it as if they were one person.

As one person, however, Alice and Bill suffered from a split personality. Alice was pleasant and placid while Bill was as volatile as a Roman candle. In fact, after an argument with Alice, Bill became so inflamed that he intentionally burned down their home.

Being as placid as usual, Alice reacted by merely filing a claim under a fire- insurance policy to recover for her loss.

"You gotta' be kidding lady," responded an insurance company representative. "When a person burns down his house, he's not entitled to be paid for doing it. And since you and your husband owned the house as one person, when he struck the match, it was the same as if you did."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Alice to collect for the damage caused by her inflamed husband?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the concept of a husband and wife being one person has been seriously eroded over the recent years and is no longer realistic. One spouse should not be caused to suffer by the individual acts of the other. A husband or wife should be allowed to collect under a fire- insurance policy, when a house is intentionally burned down by the other, as would any other coinsured individual.

(Based upon a 1973 New Jersey Superior Court Decision)

Education to handicapped provided

Missouri now provides special education services for about 148,000 handicapped persons, 109,000 of whom are in the public schools, according to the State Department of Education. It's estimated that under House Bill 474 passed by the 77th General Assembly, approximately 35,000 additional handicapped children and young people could be placed in programs designed to meet their individual needs.

Today man has entered the atomic age, the age of overkill. A mushroom cloud of death and violence shadows the sensibility of our time. The awareness, however, that there is violence all around does not diminish the fact that the starting point of non-violence is the individual. We may concede that violence is in all of us. So is God. The time is now to try His way, together, on a scale never before attempted. Get together with your family, friends, neighbors, or co-workers to discuss the problems of violence and how you can work together to help solve them. THE BUZZ WON'T BRING THE FUZZ

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston detective says anti-theft devices on new cars help very little in preventing a car from being stolen.

"The professionals always seem to find the ways and means to take cars they want," burglary and theft Det. J. D. Hunt says.

Late model cars have been rolling off the assembly lines equipped with what manufacturers call improved ignition safety systems and other items such as locking steering wheel mechanisms. Burglary alarms on a few makes of cars were offered as optional equipment.

"A big screw driver is usually all it takes to break the steering wheel locks," Hunt says. "And thieves have even used wreckers to haul away some cars."

Hunt says the last real improvement on cars came a few years ago when one manufacturer stopped making ignitions where the car could be started without the key — in the "off" instead of "lock" position.

Area residents complete 2 year insurance course

Three area residents are among the 5,105 life insurance men and women nationally who have completed the Life Underwriter Training Council's two- year course in personal and business insurance.

Philip S. Chartrau of Sikeston, John W. Bohannon of East Prairie (both associated with Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.) and Herbert Marshall of Charleston (associated with State Farm Insurance Co.) join 90,000 other insurance men and women nationwide who have completed this professional training course.

Successful completion of the course and subsequent awarding of the LUTC diploma is based on 26 weekly classes for each of the two parts and consists of classroom discussion, practical application of techniques and broadening of each participant's knowledge of both personal and business life insurance .... thus making the graduate better trained to serve the many needs of his clients.

The classes are moderated by outstanding local life insurance men and women, giving particular emphasis to consumer needs for insurance and providing a progressive step in sales professionalism for the life underwriter.

The local class was moderated by John Braswell of Kennett, a chartered life underwriter associated with Aetna Life and Casualty Insurance Co.

Harper returns from Guam

John Harper of Harper's Travel Service, 217 Tanner St., has returned from a short visit to Guam and Saipan where a group of travel agents were guests of Cliff Hotel and the Guam Hilton in Guam and Royal Taga Hotel on Saipan.

While in Guam the agents visited hotels, toured the island and tourist facilities, the site of Magellan's landing in 1521 and swam in the Pacific.

They were then flown to Saipan on Air Pacific, flying over the island of Tinian where, during the last days of World War II, a B-29 took off with an atomic bomb for Japan. They also toured the historical battlefields and beautiful scenery of Saipan.

The agents stopped over in Los Angeles for a quick tour of Disneyland and in San Francisco on the return where they were hosted by American Airlines and Mark Hopkins Hotel.

The international portion was hosted by Pan American World Airways.

Farmers should not overlook commodity loans

BENTON — As area farmers complete harvest operations this fall and finalize sales plans for the unmarketed portion of their crops, they should not overlook the availability of commodity loans offered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) as a possible part of their marketing planning.

This reminder comes from Kenneth Vowels, executive director of the Scott County ASCS office.

Vowels explains that while current market prices are above the 1973 loan rates for the commodities under the loan program, producers may find advantages in the loan program for interim crop income if they plan to sell at a later date, thus providing themselves with greater independence in their crop marketing.

Loans are available on several crops grain in Scott county, including corn, soybeans and train sorghum.

Vowels emphasized that ASCS is not in a position to tell farmers when or how to market, but that he does feel an obligation to remind producers that the loan program is available for those who want to utilize it as a marketing tool in obtaining maximum crop income.

Even though market prices are above loan, it's good business for producers to be aware of the marketing options available to them, Vowels said. Government loans are one of several techniques.

Producers interested in utilizing the commodity loan program should contact the county ASCS office.

Evans Products to purchase Reliance Plastic

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Evans Products Co. has agreed in principle with Reliance Universal Inc. to purchase the Reliance Panelyte Plastic Division, together with the assumption of its lease obligations.

The joint announcement was made by Reliance Universal chairman Ben G. Robertson, Jr. and Dale E. Ogle, president of Evans' building materials group.

Amount of the cash transaction was not disclosed.

The PANELYTE plant, which was constructed in 1966, is located in Tupelo, Miss. It manufactures high-pressure decorative laminates.

Ogle said, "The acquisition of Panelyte will complement Evans' existing line of interior-wall paneling products, including paper and vinyl overlays and true hardwoods, as well as filled and printed products.

"Distribution of Panelyte products will be made through the Evans nationwide network of wholesale centers which serve mobile home, industrial and distributor markets."

Evans Products Co., with headquarters in Portland, Ore., is a leading retailer of building materials and a producer of precut homes.

Osco Drug opens Indiana store

COLUMBUS, Ind. — Osco Drug, a division of Jewel Companies, Inc., announces the opening of its 200th store in Columbus Ind.

A pioneer in the area of self- service, Osco Drug opened its first store in Rochester, Minn., in 1937. In the beginning, Osco based its operation in the Midwest, serving consumers in Minnesota, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

Growth was slow but deliberate until 1961 when Osco merged with Jewel Companies, Inc. As a result of the merger, Osco accelerated its growth and expanded its areas of interest to include the Northwest and New England.

Currently the stores serve customers in 17 states from Washington to Maine.

One of the Osco- operated stores is in the Sikeston, Mo., Kingsway Plaza Mall. Manager of the Sikeston store is Jack Koopman.

Executive offers toy buying tips

JEFFERSON CITY — "Make sure the toys you purchase bring happiness to children, not an injury", states Sam Overfelt, Executive Vice President of the Missouri Retailers Association.

Toy inventories are being checked closely by Missouri Retailers Association members across the state to insure safety, however toy purchasers are asked to look closely at all toys. If questions arise or potential defects are sighted, customers are asked to contact the local store's manager. With the Holiday Season ahead the following guidelines will be helpful in buying toys.

1. Buy toys that are built to withstand investigation by curious children — yours!
2. Consider your child's age and capabilities when buying toys.
3. Easily understood instructions are a must.
4. Select toys with which your child can become involved, which will stimulate his imagination, and which will help develop skills.
5. Look for nails or potential sharp points on toys that could injure a child's eye.
6. Look for pull cords attached with staples, not thumb tacks.
7. Be sure dolls and stuffed animals with moveable parts (such as heads, arms, legs) do not use elastic, metal rods or metal wires.
8. Be sure any toy designed to be placed in the mouth (such as a whistle, a horn, or a bubblyblower) is not so small or fragile that it, or any part, can be swallowed.
9. Choose toys of flexible plastic; toys made with rigid plastics or glass produce a very sharp edge when broken.
10. For infants — buy washahle, non-breakable toys and squeeze toys with non-removable squeakers.
11. Check labels for non-toxic paint and non-flammable materials.
12. Make sure riding toys have wide-spread wheels and a low center of gravity to prevent tipping over.
13. Electrical toys for children should be used only with adult supervision.
14. And when you take the purchased toy home, teach your child how to use it properly!

The name Baton Rouge is French. It means "red stick" or "red pole." The first French explorers found the Indians using such a pole as a boundary marker.

Interstate Brands reports profit

KANSAS CITY — Interstate Brands Corp., one of the nation's largest bakery-food firms, today reported a profit for the third quarter of 1973, continuing a trend begun in the second quarter, which was realized despite handicaps of the price freeze and continuing increases in ingredient costs, according to IBC president B. J. Hinkle.

Net income for the third quarter, ended Oct. 6, was $71,455, compared with $633,323 reported for the same period 1972. Earnings per share for the quarter were three cents, contrasted with 26 cents a year ago. Sales during the third quarter 1973 totaled $72,868,136, up $8,452,036 from $64,416,100 in 1972.

For the 40 weeks, the company had a loss of $554,533 compared with a net income of $2,489,791 reported for the same period last year. The loss of 25 cents per common share compares with earnings of $1.05 for three quarters of 1972.

Sales for the 40 weeks were $228,984,829, up $11,471,759 from the $217,513,070 reported in 1972.

"A portion of the sales increase reported for the third quarter resulted from price increases permitted under Stage A of thygovernment's Phase IV price control program," Hinkle said.

He also explained that the relief resulting from removal of the wheat certificate tax, effective July 1, was more than offset by the increase in the price of flour which occurred at the same time.

"IBC continued the successful marketing of new products with the introduction during the quarter of Zingers Plus – a new series of creme-filled snack cakes packaged in newly designed family pack. Sales to date indicate this may prove to be one of IBC's most successful cake product lines," Hinkle stated.

$17,000 grant enables Heights to hire a city administrator

HAYTI HEIGHTS — A $17,000 grant from the Missouri Department of Community Affairs has enabled the City of Hayti Heights to hire a city administrator for a year.

Mayor David Humes announced that Thomas Dee of St. Louis has been hired as city administrator and said his appointment was made possible by funds awarded under the Interpersonnel Governmental Act.

Dee has begun to set up a city administration developing ordinances, accounting systems, personnel procedures and identifying taxable resources. He will also assist in seeking additional resources for the city from public and private sources, according to the mayor.

In addition to his other duties, he will train the Hayti Heights city officials in city administration, enabling them to maintain the proper procedures after he is gone.

A bachelor, Dee has moved into the Heights where he will live for the next year. One of a family of ten, he is the son of a tax lawyer in Clayton. He holds a bachelor of arts in history from Stanford University in California and, in 1972, received a masters degree in education from Washington University in St. Louis.

For the past year and a half, he has worked for a neighborhood association in St. Louis called Neighborhood Pride, developing housing, youth and social service programs. From January to Oct. 12, he was employed as a community volunteer with the Volunteers in Service to American (VISTA) program.

Dee said immediate plans call for writing an application to get three more VISTA volunteers into the Heights to join the two already employed. Presently working under the VISTA program are Noel Dittmars and Robbie Towns. Dee said three more VISTA workers will hopefully be sent in the near future. Two would be working with the neighborhood block groups promoting community betterment projects the third would serve as an administrative assistant.

In order to qualify for the $17,000 grant which will cover his $11,000 salary as well as pay the expenses for phone, transportation, equipment rental and office supplies, Hayti Heights had to come up with $5,000 in matching funds. The matching monies were not in cash, Dee stated, but in services which include the legal advice offered, construction of a new city hall and others.

COOKING-UP

By MARY NOLEN

The recipes this week are provided by my sister, Mrs. Tommy (Betty) Jenkins of Charleston. Featured are favorite desserts of her family. Hope you enjoy them.

COMPANY CHEESE CAKE
Graham-Nut Crust

1 3/4 cups fine graham cracker crumbs
1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts

1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

Combine ingredients. Reserve three tablespoons mixture, and press remainder on bottom and 2 1/2 inches up on side of nine-inch pan.

Rich fillings

3 well beaten eggs
2- 8 oz. packages cream cheese, softened
1 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. almond extract
3 cups sour cream

Combine all ingredients except sour cream; beat smooth. Blend in sour cream. Pour into crust. Trim with reserved crumbs. Bake in 375 degree oven 35 minutes. Cool. Chill well (about four or five hours). Filling will be soft. Makes about 10 servings.

COCKTAIL PIE

32 vanilla wafers
2 cups dairy sour cream
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 No. 2 1/2 can. (3 1/2 cups) fruit cocktail, well drained.

Line 9 inch-pie plate with vanilla wafers. Combine sour cream, sugar and vanilla and fold in drained fruit. Pour into cooked pie shell. Bake in 350 degree over about 25 minutes, or till set. Cool; then chill thoroughly. Makes six to eight servings.

MARMALADE MINCE PIE

2 tbsp. flour
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Line a nine-inch pie plate with half the pastry. Combine mincemeat, marmalade, flour and lemon juice. Turn into pie plate and cover with top crust. Bake in hot overn (425 degrees) 35 to 40 minutes. Makes one nine-inch pie.

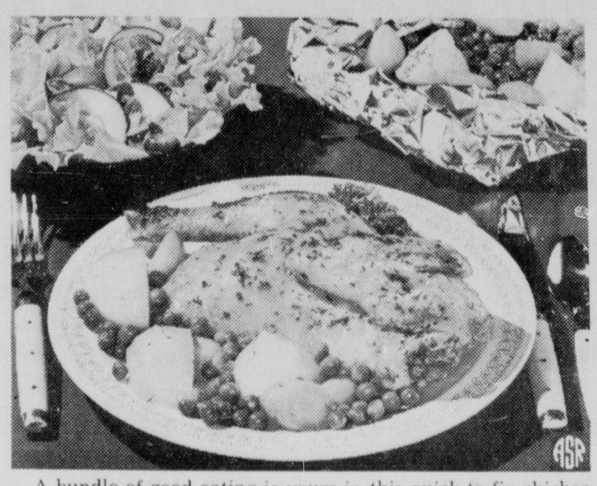
BANANA—APPLE PIE

2 cups sliced bananas
1 9-inch baked pie shell
1 tbsp. lemon juice
2 cups sweetened applesauce
1 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

Place sliced bananas on bottom of baked pie shell. Sprinkle with juice. Pour applesauce over bananas and top with whipped cream. Chill well. Makes one nine-inch pie.

Grandma Moses, the American primitive painter, started painting when she was 78 years old. She never had an art lesson.

Chicken Bundle From Freezer-To-Table



A bundle of good eating is yours in this quick to fix chicken dinner. Enjoy a flavorful combination of chicken, potatoes, carrots and peas laced with a touch of thyme leaves. All of these ingredients, plus the usual salt, pepper and butter seasonings are wrapped and baked together in heavy duty Reynolds Wrap.

Prepare and bake this dinner the same day or store in your freezer for a quick freezer-to-table dinner sometime later. Chicken in a Bundle may be cooked from the frozen state! It's a handy meal in a bundle for any member of the family to prepare.

Chicken in a Bundle

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in half
- 2 large carrots, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 2 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered
- 1 cup frozen peas
- salt, pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
- 1/4 cup butter

Tear two squares of heavy duty Reynolds Wrap about 16 x 18 inches. Arrange chicken, vegetables, seasonings and butter in center of foil, dividing equally. Seal foil. To cook, place on shallow pan and bake in a 375°F oven for about 1 hour. If frozen, bake for 1½ hours.

Breakfast ideas change

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Instead of pancakes or eggs for your next breakfast why not wake up to a pizza or a taco?

And instead of bacon or toast, try a chicken salad sandwich or a hot dog! Maybe even bagels and creamed cheese!

According to a University of Nevada - Reno nutritionist, Americans are over-rating the value of a traditional bacon and eggs breakfast.

"Everyone knows you should have breakfast," said Marjorie Stevenson. "So why are people missing it? Maybe they're tired of a stereotyped breakfast."

Mrs. Stevenson said in an interview Tuesday that pizza, macaroni and cheese, chili, tacos- even ice cream or custard pie - make nutritious breakfasts.

"It's unnerving to see my daughter sitting there with a tuna salad sandwich at 7:30 a.m. But she's getting her nutrients. And my son sometimes likes bagels and creamed cheese," she said.

She said it's not important what you eat, as long as you get the right nutrients. She said the body needs protein, but what's the different if it comes in scrambled eggs, a hamburger or peanut butter?

Mrs. Stevenson said breakfast is the most skipped meal in the United States and one reason is because of the stress on the bacon, eggs, milk, cereal and orange juice meal.

She said an experiment where cooks at a nearby scout camp served tomato soup, hamburgers and french fries for breakfast showed that people expect traditional breakfasts, but could adapt to change.

"Some of the kids thought it was great," she said. "But others were stunned because it didn't mean breakfast to them."

Coffee Corner by Cherie

Well, I finally got around to going on that diet, and wonder of wonders I lost every bit of my weight out of the hips and thighs where I wanted to. I read in some magazine the other day how the jet set go on this crash diet to get rid of those extra pounds and bulges quickly, so, I figured if the jet set could do it — so could my sister-in-law and myself. I ran to the phone, informed her of what we were about to embark on, and viola, here we are both thinner (and hungier). Along with discovering how to take off a few pounds, we also discovered the way to a successful diet is to go on it with at least one other person, and make a promise to each other that each time you cheat you must pay the other one five dollars. You'll be amazed how often the thought of that five dollars will apply a brake to your hand when it's halfway to your mouth. So, I was very - very pleased with the results and I'll give you the diet to try. I took vitamins at the same time, including some calcium tablets, and I really didn't get too mean as a result. Another thing to remember, when your week is up, stay away from the bread, potatoes, and sweets and you will then keep on gradually losing. If you don't want all this — don't eat it, but don't add anything either.

DIET

2nd Day Breakfast:

Lunch:
Leave off 1 egg and the celery
Dinner
Leave off 1 lamb chop or make it a small hamburger, and leave off potato and 1 prune.
Bedtime Snack
The same.
3rd Day Breakfast
Now omit 1 piece of toast from 2nd day breakfast.
Lunch
Eat 1 portion spinach and 4 TBS. applesauce only
Dinner
Eat 1 portion green vegetable and 4 prunes only.
Bedtime Snack
The same.
4th Day
All 3 meals and snack you may only have 5 oz. of either the juices or the milk and that's all!!!
5h Day
You eat the same as on day 3
6th Day
You eat the same as on day 2
7th Day
You eat the same as on day 1.

Now, diets over and once you made it past day 3 and 4 the rest was easy. Drink lots of water, think thin, DON'T CHEAT, don't stuff when the diet is over, and you really will get rid of some of that ugly fat! Listen, if I can do it — so can you!!!

Letters to the Editor

ONE BIG CROOK DOWN AND ONE BIGGER ONE TO GO

Dear Editor:

We have just witnessed the first resignation of a vice president in the history of our republic. The list of felony charges Agnue pleaded guilty to would read like the hoodlum criminal record of at least — like one of the ten most wanted men in America America — lieing, stealing, cheating, bribery, extortion, income tax evasion and many more we don't know about.

Mr. Agnue is a member of the Nixon regime that believes in strict law and order without mercy, unemployment without welfare, legal draft dodging but no amnesty for those who could not open the legal draft dodging doors, a tax system that favors the already wealthy, unequal education, in keeping the Indians on a reservation, controlling the news, shooting boys and girls who protest, reinstating the death penalty, (for the underprivileged) and etc.

While Mr. Agnue was stealing, American boys were giving their lives in Vietnam for what their leaders told them was a great and noble cause. While Agnue was committing extortion soldiers were losing arm legs eyes with many to become invalids for thy rest of their lives. While Agnue was lieing and cheating, children were becoming orphans because their fathers were dieing in Vietnam to keep America great. While Agnue was criminally evading income taxes young women were being widowed because their husbands were sacrificing their lives for that great American dream, to preserve Democracy, freedom, equal rights, honesty, decency and justice for all, for generations to come. While guilty Agnew serves no time in jail, reporters went to jail for tellithe truth.

Mr. Agnue's only job as Nixon's vice president was to behead the news media. After his brutal attacks on the press he would hole up at Frank Sinatra's Mafia desert compound. After pleading guilty to many crimes, Agnue safely escaped the noose that he and Nixon so carefully prepared for the news media even though they had brought forth no formal charges.

Mr. Spiro Agnue's name will be dishonored throughout American history. He not only stole from his state, he stole from the poor, the middle class and the upper calss. He made dishonest people out of contractors but most of all he stole some of the spirit from the people, — he weakened their will and determination to do right. His lawless actions from a position of national leadership has a degrading effect on all Americans, and by so doing Mr. Agnue has lessened the pride and lowered the character of America.

We have men in prison who stole only the amount of chickens they could carry.

"If not in America — Justice — Justice where art thou?

Dear Sirs:

Here is an idea that you might enjoy that happens to most young couples.

Before Marriage: On a Saturday night date, the girlfriend stands by her boyfriend's sports car holding a light over the engine so he can work on it to make it faster.

Later . . . .

After Marriage: Their family car has engine trouble and she tells him about it .... so what does he do .... takes it to a garage to have it worked on because he doesn't have time.

He had just as much time now than he had then.

I read your paper everyday and it is very good. Keep up the good work.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Two kinds of pancreatitis

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In just four days we recently lost a dear member of our family to an illness diagonosed as pancreatitis. I need to know what causes this sudden disease, its symptoms, proper treatment and whether or not it is usually fatal.

DEAR READER — At the outset let me say that there is a difference between acute sudden pancreatitis and chronic pancreatitis. The outlook in the chronic form is somewhat different — although it can become poor if underlying problems are not corrected, such as a gall stone blocking the duct from the pancreas or failure to correct an underlying alcohol problem.

Acute pancreatitis is sudden inflammation of the pancreas, the organ lying underneath and behind the stomach at the upper left part of the abdomen. The picture varies a great deal. In general there is obstruction of the drainage of normally produced pancreatic juice into the small intestine. These juices tend to break out of the normal drainage ducts within the gland and chemically inflame or even digest the pancreatic tissue. This in turn leads to more damage and the process can accelerate rapidly.

The pancreatic juice contains powerful enzymes used to digest both proteins and fat. They are capable of causing severe inflammation of the pancreatic tissues. If swelling of the tissues is all that occurs, the patient may do fairly well and recover.

The usual picture is one of shock and it can be very severe. Some of the proteins that are released into the bloodstream tend to dilate the small arteries throughout the body and blood pressure falls.

Treatment is directed toward relieving the shock when that is the main feature. Sometimes there is an associated diabetic complication if the islets of tissues within the pancreas that produce insulin are also severely damaged.

There is usually abdominal pain, and it can be in the pit of the stomach and radiate to the back. Other patients may not have such severe pain. The pain can resemble many other conditions that can occur in the abdomen, including a ruptured peptic ulcer.

If the damage and inflammation of the pancreas is severe and if it is associated with bleeding into the pancreas, which can and does occur, then only about half of the patients survive the acute attack under the best management.

Surgery is usually not attempted during the acute attack unless it is obvious that medical treatment is not going to prevent the patient's demise. It can be harmful. It is a very serious medical problem and the outlook isn't too encouraging.

There are many causes of it. Underlying gall bladder disease resulting in a stone in the bile duct may block the pancreatic duct and is a common cause. Alcohol is another frequent cause and there may not be any cause that can be identified. Rare causes include infections such as mumps which can involve the pancreas much as it involves the glands in the neck and jaw region.

Sedalia no longer such unique name

By DICK JONES
The Sedalia Capital
For The Associated Press

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) — Once heralded as the "Queen City of the Prairie," Sedalia often enjoyed the distinction of uniqueness in many respects. But with the westward push of the railroad and the constant flow of settlers, the uniqueness of the name Sedalia was somehow lost in the shuffle.

There are now six communities named Sedalia in the U.S., with another located in Alberta, Canada.

Although none have grown to the present 25,000-plus size of the Sedalia, Mo., area, there is historical evidence that at least one other Sedalia was named in memory of the Missouri City, which was once billed as "the place where folks enjoy life."

Sedalia, Colo., was founded Sept. 6, 1871, and named by one of the original settlers, a Mr. Clay who was a native of Sedalia, Mo. Originally called Plum Station, the village in the mountainous Colorado foothills was a stop on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad — now the Santa Fe.

It is throught Clay might have been a railroader who moved west with the railroad construction following the Civil War.

Today Sedalia, Colo., is an unincorporated area of about 300 persons with no definite town limits.

Sedalia, Ind., an unincorporated town of about 1,000, was platted March 31, 1873.

The Indiana town was named after Sedalia, Ill., by a railroad official. No record exists today for a Sedalia, Ill.

A plat for Sedalia, Mo., was filed in October, 1860 by George R. Smith, who had come here from his home in Kentucky. Missouri's Sedalia was originally named Sedville after Smith's youngest daughter's nickname, Sed. The name change took place in 1860, three years before the town became the county seat of Pettis County.

Sedalia, Ky., population 258, is in the western part of the state and boasts a post office, two churches, one school, two general stores, a restaurant and a feed mill.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 31, the 304th day of 1973. There are 61 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1517, Martin Luther nailed his 95 theses against the abuses of the practice of indulgences on the chapel door at Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany.

Also, on this date:

In 1674, Dutch forces evacuated New York City.

In 1754, a royal charter was granted to King's College in New York City. It was the beginning of Columbia University.

In 1864, Nevada was admitted to the Union as the 36th state.

In 1931, the U.S. Treasury announced the financial condition of the nation was so grave that more than 500 banks had closed their doors.
